The shade trees along all the streets of the town are growing at a wonderfully rapid rate. They greatly improve the appearance of the town.

J. Walter Wolf, who will be in charge of the new office at Belleville, is purchasing the apparatus and perfecting preparations for opening the new office.

There are many nice flower plots along centre Thomas street. A great deal of attention is being paid to the cultivation of flowers in all parts of the town this season.

The H. H. Williams' states that it is confident to expect to complete and open for traffic the canals between Lake Ontario and Montreal by the beginning of the season of navigation in 1899.

Fruit growers in Michigan are distressed over the prevalence of the new pest, "cut leaf," and it is feared that the whole of the promised big crop will be a failure.

James Waternphy and D. Cook, building contractors, have been busy making an addition to P. F. Fox's store on Green street. They are also building a fine barn for M. Kimmerly, Napance road.

Many members of the different athletic clubs in town are inclined to resent any criticism by the captains and other leaders during the regular practices. This is very silly and militates against proficiency.

G. A. Ireland of Belleville has opened a bicycle livery and repair shop in Callaghan's hall, St. George street. All orders secured will receive prompt attention. Terms moderate.

Japan is moving apace in the direction of universal suffrage. Premier Ito having recently introduced a bill in the Japanese parliament which will increase the number of voters five-fold, and the members of the Diet from 300 to 472.

Sir Louis Davies, representing the Dominion government, has succeeded in his mission at Washington. As a result a meeting of representatives of the two countries will be held at Quebec to settle all matters in dispute.

The farmers of the district are making very large purchases of building material from the Rathburn Company. It is many years since there was such a local demand for lumber. A very good indication of a revival of trade and increasing prosperity among the agriculturists.

The use of the word "knot" in connection with the speed and distance sailed or steamed by a ship in a given time is open to misconception. The different between the geographical mile and a nautical mile is that the latter measures 0.89 ft., or 890 ft. more than the land mile. Thus, when we read of a vessel making twenty knots, it means that she is making 23 ordinary miles an hour.

An explosion occurred at the works of the Hazardville Powder Company, and two men are reported killed.

The men from Nashua, N.H., and Haverhill, Mass., were drowned by the breaking of the ice in Fraser Lake, in the Yukon.

Closing The Big Store.

The steamers Ella Ross, Capt. Christie, commenced to-day her popular Friday excursions to Belleville and Trenton.

Henry Newman, a native of Deseronto, at 8:15 a.m. A splendid opportunity for a day's outing in the interests of pleasure and health.

With less than a week's entertainment the Rathburn Company have decided to discontinue their general store business and that end are selling off their present stock.

For about fifty years the Big Store has been institution of Deseronto and probably the best known business places in the district. It has been the home of many agents during that period and is the only surviving of the big establishment marks an epoch in the history of Deseronto and it will undoubtedly exert a great change in the commercial condition of the town.

Flower Sunday.

The evolution of the war correspondent, to-day, is the result of the efforts of George Burrow, who was in Spain in 1880, when it was being invaded by Don Carlos Burrow represented the London Morning Herald, which was one of the leading Conservative papers. The author of the speech was correspondent William Howatt Russell sent to the Crimea by the London Times.

The board walk on the east side of North Mill street has been moved nearer to the centre of the street. The sooner this can be done all over the town the better streets we will have. The roadways are now too wide and cannot be increased to be all the same property. Hence the costly management will eat up in muddy weather by milk wagons, bakers and butchers carts, etc. The natural result is a great waste of money in vain attempts to put the streets in good condition. No one can imagine how it would attempt on streets without the direction of a competent engineer. The good roads movement should be extended to Deseronto.

Police Court.

On Tuesday John Smart, Indian, appeared before Police Magistrate Bedford charged with being drunk and disorderly and using profane language.

FACTS ABOUT HEALTH

Hit is Easy to Know when if We Know How to Cure the Conditions Necessary to Perfect Health.

The importance of maintaining good health is easily understood, and it is really a simple matter if we take a correct view of the conditions required. In perfect health the stomach promptly digests food, and thus prepares nourishment. The blood is sent to every organ, nerves, muscles and tissues which need it. The first great essential for good health, therefore, is a pure, rich blood. Now it is certainly a fact that no medicine has such a record of cure as Hood's Saraparilla. It is literally true that there are hundreds of people alive and well today who would have been in their graves had they not taken Hood's Saraparilla. It is depended upon as a family medicine and general regulator of the system by tens of thousands of people all over the world because Hood's Saraparilla makes the blood pure. This is the secret of its great success. Keep your system in good health by keeping your blood pure with Hood's Saraparilla, which absolutely guarantees that all medicines fail to do any good whatever.

Hood's Pills

are the only pills to take with Hood's Saraparilla.

Women Unjustly Treated.

When Dealers Sell Them Common and Deceptive Dyes.

There are thousands of women who have heard of the great saving that can be effected by having dying at their Diamond Dyes are used and have decided to experiment for themselves.

Many of these women, thoughtlessly, will simply ask for a package of dye of the needed color when buying. This request will allow the wary dealer to offer the unsuspecting some imitation of a good dye, worthless as coloring agents, but on which they realize a large profit.

Dealers who do this kind of business are treating and serving their customers unjustly. The dealer knows well that Diamond Dyes are necessary for his customer to achieve success in her new work.

The Diamond Dyes are the only dyes that reputable dealers handle and sell. The wise merchant keeps a full stock of Diamond Dyes, because the daily demand is so great for these guaranteed dyes.

The woman who uses Diamond Dyes for her first dying work will never use other makes. Bright, strong, clear, lasting and fashionable colors are obtained only from the Diamond Dyes.

ENGLISH BAYONETS.
AN INTERESTING ACCOUNT OF HOW THEY ARE MADE.

The Process From the Raw Material to the Finished Product. Their Manufacture is Almost as Fatal to Life as Their Use in Times of War.

A notice in the London News, in an account of a visit to the Enfield Small Arms factory, gives the following interesting account of how bayonets are made.

It is a big business, this bayonet making. The raw material comes to us in the form of bars of steel, which are cut up into the necessary lengths and rolled. The strips of steel are then bent off to a tremendous curve, which stamps on them the profile of the bayonet. These are then sent to the grinding department of the factory. Here, in the first place, a rather lumbering looking "roughing" machine automatically scores and edges with every turn the edge two or three times over, so that it becomes a "rough." This insures that the metal is exactly the proper size and shape.

Next comes the grinding by hand on the big grindstones, of which there are 30. In one long skylighted building, each containing a grindstone, each 12 feet in diameter, the men grind the bayonets, each of course, as well as the grinders employed. These men sit astride their seats as they work, and are suspended, bending toward the wheel, so that the wheel turns at a speed of something like 2,500 times a minute, while they are fully seated.

Then comes the unhandy grinder if there is any work left to do, a little later.

Working round and round, pace the centrifugal strain upon it, is of course, very great, and if the stone were not pretty round it would fit to pieces, as they are known to do, especially in such places. Then comes the finishing, which is done at least once, and again at a speed of 1,500 times a minute, while they are fully seated.

A good deal of the mischief might be obviated by the use of magnetized respirators, but they won't wear them or goggles for the eyes, either.

After a workman is done by the piece, and there are no objection to these protectors seriously interfere with their earnings, so that, like a good many more of us in different ways they kill themselves in the course that they may live. Probably by the time that we have learned to do without breathing masks, we shall also have learned to be content with a fair living for the fact that he can honestly do without choking himself with dust.

One takes in hand one of these modern sword bayonets which have superseded the old flat blades, and he will see that it is a flat blade, each side of which has a central ridge between two hollows.

These hollows are ground out of the solid steel by a millstone ribbed all round, especially for the purpose, these ridges or spikes in the surface of the steel corresponding to the hollows in the blade. After the grinding has been carried up to a certain point, the weapon or the piece of steel in process of becoming the weapon is carried to another department to undergo some change in its composition. Thus far it has been a piece of ordinary cast steel, and if the truth could be known it might be found that the making of the weapons for European armies and navies is almost as much of a mystery to us as it is to us. However, to be part of this kind of a weapon is a good deal of the mischief might be obviated by the use of magnetized respirators, but they won't wear them or goggles for the eyes, either.

FOOTBALL.

DESERONTO VS. LONDONDERRY.

STARS V. MATCH SPLINTS.

Another method of saving the most popular game in Deseronto can best be judged from the large enthusiastic number of spectators who are always in attendance. At the High School grounds on the 10th instant the Stars played the Match Splints in a well-attended despatched affair. In the relative strength of the Stars and Match Splints the Stars were successful, and in the Stars' favor. The Match Splints were given due account, their again, the well known reputation of such factory goods had to be borne in mind. Some considered the youth of the Stars played a vicious disadvantage, as noted in the greater number of falls, and in addition were decidedly weaker from an avoidance policy standpoint.

To decide these conflicting arguments a game was played at 5:30. Shortly afterwards J. Hale was accidentally maimed by a flying Match Splint, but with characteristic grit, played on, largely contributing to the Stars' success. The Stars' game was throughout tame and drab, while the Stars all played well and bravely without the heavy rushes of their opponents, generally getting away with the ball. The Stars' other side, however, scored in the first half, and the Stars had made a number of almost successful kicks on goal.

Owing to the large number of interested spectators, the Stars concluded to make the second half more interesting to all concerned by making competition play down to a science they succeeded in outwitting the Match Splints and in rapid succession scored two goals which were kicked by Skinner and a second goal which was kicked by the Match Splints found that they had failed to materialize the score standing 2 to 0 in favor of the Stars.

The teams were as follows:—
 Stars: Captain, Allister; backs, Walter McMaster and Joe Brough; half backs, Harry Stewart, M. Burns and W. Cole; forwards, Jack Gowans, F. Kennedy, E. Stanton, J. Hynes and E. Chapman; goal, Alex. Pooley; back-splints, Wm. Brown and P. Brown; half backs, David O'Dee, E. Naphin and Fred Corby; forwards, L. Reino, Jack Brown, Chas. Beyette, Eli Houle and Alex. Gauthier. Reserve—W. Stoddart.

NOTES.—It is stated that the Match Splints are now in mourning costume. Attention was attracted to G. McIntosh, who, in the course of the game unconsciously walking within the lines, he was suddenly awakened by a rush of the players towards him. With great presence of mind he started north at a 2:30 clip and quickly disappeared from view. Farmers thought he had cleared out to gather grain from the east end about that time. His friends were all glad to see him next morning none the worse of the wear.

During the game a number of ungentlemanly suggestions were made by some of the youthful spectators which served to irritate the Stars, who are now undergoing treatment in Belleville hospital. "Jump on his neck," "kill him," "throw him down," are samples. This is not at all creditable and should be stamped out by both teams and the more civilized of the spectators.

It is hoped that next time the Match Splints will reverse this defeat. They did well considering the short training and experience they have had.

DYSPEPSIA is the cause of untold suffering. By taking Hood's Saraparilla the digestive organs are toned and dyspepsia IS CURED.

Head and Limbs

All Covered With Eruptions—Could Not Work, the Suffering Was So Great. Hood's Has cured all sorts of eruptions down with complaints peculiar to my sex, and I broke out in sores on my body, head, limbs and hands, and my hair all came out. I was under the doctor's treatment a long time without benefit. They called taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after I had used three or four bottles I found it was improved. I kept on using it and taken several more bottles and the sores and itching have disappeared and my hair has grown out." Miss J. G. Brown, Brantford, Ontario.

"I was all run down and had no appetite. I had a tired feeling all the time. I was advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so and it benefited me so much that I would not live without it." Mrs. G. L. Brasier, Central Norton, N. B.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 22

Mark Eyes of Kingston died on June 3, aged 92; Mrs. Amanda McBride of North Fredericksburg, on June 1, aged 73; also Timothy Palmer of Kingston, aged 70.

It's not the cough, but what it may end in, that makes it so serious. The cough may be cured, the serious consequence prevented by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, Price, 25 cents, at all druggists.

A good appetite is essential to good health. Hood's Sarsaparilla creates an appetitive tonic and strengthens the stomach. And builds up the system.

It relieves the tired feeling, and by purifying and enriching the blood, it promptly and permanently cures all eruptions, skin diseases, rheumatism, pimpls and sores, strengthens the nerves, and gives sweet, refreshing sleep. No other medicine has taken such hold upon the confidence of people as Hood's Sarsaparilla, and its record of success is unequalled by any other preparation. You may take Hood's Sarsaparilla with the utmost confidence that it will do you good.

The First Methodist church in Picton will be torn down and a new structure costing $22,000 will be built in its place.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver tonic. Gentle reliable, sure.

On a recent Saturday and Monday 2300 pounds of milk were taken in at the Picton factory.

If you are not feeling well, why don't you take Hood's Sarsaparilla? It will purify and enrich your blood and do you wonderful good.

Large quantities of grain were shipped last week from North Hastings for the Montreal market.

THE MOST PROMINENT ARE FASHIONABLE.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion has become a fashionable disease. There are very few individuals who have not, at various times experienced the miserable feeling caused by defective digestion. No pen can describe the keen suffering of the body, and the agony and anguish of mind that attend it. Dr. La Loude, of 230 Pine Ave., Mental, says, "When I ever run across chronic cases of Dyspepsia, I always prescribe Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and my patients generally have quick relief."

Owing to ill health Rev. R. Ballantine, of Tamworth, has been ordered to take change and rest.

Signs of worms are variable appetite, itching at the nose, etc. Dr. Low's Worm Pill is the best worm expeller.

Edward H. Cunne and Mary Elizabeth Pringle, both of Adolphustown, were married May 31st.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis and Throat and Lung Troubles.

Norway Pine Syrup cures Coughs, Norway Pine Syrups cures Bronchitis, Norway Pine Syrup heals the lungs.

Bethel Park, Brock of Kingston, 93 years of age, has been a Methodist clergyman for 63 years.

That Hacking Cough can be quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, Price 25c.

James Mack of Springbrook and Laura Gieatric of Coryville were married on the 1st inst.

Bad Blood Will Out.

Can't help but come to the surface in the form of Ulcers, Sores, Boils, Pimples and Rashes of one kind and another. Especially is this so in the SPRING. At this time of the year the Blood needs purifying, the System needs cleansing. Nothing will do it with such perfect success as

Jessie Johnston Rockwood, Ont., writes:

"I had boils very bad and a friend advised me to take Burdock Blood Bitters, so I did. After three days of this terrible, the boils began to disappear, and before the bottle was done I was totally cured. As an effectual and rapid cure for Impure Blood B. B. B. cannot be equalled."

BAD ENGLISH MARKSMANSHIP.

London, June 6.—The Globe today says it learns from a most reliable source that the Chinese Foreign Office has decided to make Si-Singan (capital of the Province of Shun Si) the capital of the Chinese Empire in the place of Peking.

General Tong Pi, Ching, it is added, now commands a picked force garrisoned in a town half way between Pekin and Si-Singan for the purpose of protecting the Emperor and his court on their journey to the new capital, and troops, it appears, are already stationed at intervals along the route.

BROWN BREAD.

Advocates of brown bread being the most nutritive to the system, what is likely to be well informed. This is a very important one, and too much attention cannot possibly be bestowed upon it. The best guns in the world are useless unless you can shoot straight with them. The recent fighting in the South African War has shown that, whatever the American navy may or may not be, its men are splendid gunners, and the boasted naval pre-eminence, to attain which we have made such enormous sacrifices, will be worth very little unless our shooting is as good as the best that is ever likely to be brought against us."

HORSES' FEET.

The London Live-Stock Journal remarks that a large, broad foot, approaching to roundness, is no indication of strength and durability of the horse, but a sign of weakness, as tending to become flat-headed. When seen in a horse used for riding, it may be taken, as a rule, to be a sign of common or coarse blood in one of his near ancestors, and that he himself has probably inherited their sluggish movement as well as foot conformation. The wall of the hoof does not bulge out too much at the side. It should be of a graduated oval shape, and not round. There is a popular opinion that when dark hoofs are inclined to be brittle, horses are inclined to be soft. High authority believe the opinion has no foundation in fact. What has the presence of pigment or absence of it in the hairs which surround the coronet, to do with the durability of the hoof, of which it is a continuation? Perhaps the horse with the best-formed and soundest foot of all modern breeds is the thoroughbred Hackney.

HEROIC BRAVERY.

Four Admiral Simpson, during Friday morning, decided to close the narrow harbour entrance of Santiago de Cuba by sinking the collier Merrimac loaded with coal in the channel. He called for volunteers to go to the imminent death, and four thousand volunteered. Lieutenant Holson and six men were chosen, and at 3 p.m. on Friday morning the Merrimac, under her own steam, entered the channel under a terrible Spanish fire. The vessel was riddled with projectiles, the anchor and some of the crew fell overboard, but the ship did not budge out too much at the side. It should be of a graduated oval shape, and not round. There is a popular opinion that when dark hoofs are inclined to be brittle, horses are inclined to be soft. High authority believe the opinion has no foundation in fact. What has the presence of pigment or absence of it in the hairs which surround the coronet, to do with the durability of the hoof, of which it is a continuation? What nearly proved a terrible calamity occurred Saturday last. Ed. Cook had returned from town to his home about noon. As he got near the house, his little son who had been watching for him, ran out and was taken into the wagon to ride. A team of horses drove an empty sled beside the horse and proceeded to take the horses from the wagon which was a heavy lumber wagon. He had one horse unhitched and was between them; something must have happened to the team to cause the high speed.

Much in Little

It is especially true of Hood's Pills, for no pills ever contained so great curative power in so small space. They are a whole medicine chest, always ready, always sufficient; prevent a cold or fever, cure all inner ills, stop headache, jaudies, constipation, etc. The only pills to take with Hood's Saraparilla.

OUR FIRST LEDGERS.

THE BOOKS WITH WHICH UNCLE SAM BEGAN BUSINESS

They Are Among the Highly Fined Curiosities in the Treasury Department at Washington and Contain Accounts of Washington and Franklin.

Among the curiosities at the United States treasury department in Washington kept in the historical room is a case of interesting tourist who may happen during the course of the eight years to visit the nation's capital and Uncle Sam's principal strong box there is a set of ledgers, the books of account of all who used them. The set consist of a ledger, a journal and a blotter or wastebook, and was the first set made for joining documents and notes so that all important branch of the government may, by the time it is giv- en, be in a condition to think today the treasury.

The books are over 100 years old, and for many years they do the first link in the chain of the history of this country's financial dealings with its representatives, both at home and abroad, during the period of the Revolution—when the country was born. They are both rare and valuable—such as a specimen of the old time bookkeeping then in vogue, when there were no rules so as to divide the page into the pretty columns we see now, and when there stood there were indications which cluster around them and baffle them and for the priceless records they contain.

Under the continental congress there was nothing as a treasury department, a board of treasury being provided to take charge of the new nation's finances.

Soon after this board of treasury was organized, on April 1, 1776, the treasurer's office was instituted, and two years later the first ledger was put into the office of the treasurer mentioned above, and the keeping of the first books containing records of the United States treasury department was begun, although the department at that time was under the name of the mint.

It was established on April 1, 1776, and Sept. 1, 1789, on nearly 13 years after the board of treasury and the United States treasurer's office were instituted, that the presents United States treasury department was created, with Alexander Hamilton as the first secretary of the treasury. Nicholas Evelyn of South Carolina first comptroller, Oliver Wolcott, Jr., of Connecticut first auditor, Samuel Morelly of Pennsylvania treasurer and Joseph Nourse of Virginia register. These were the original officers and auditors of the treasury department, and the names of the treasurers, from the beginning in 1789, other offices or bureaus were added as the exigencies of the public service in financial matters required.

One interesting phase of the accounts kept by these books is that of the uncertainty as to location of the headquarters of the continental congress and Uncle Sam's money box. The dates and headings of various entries show that the government of the republic was compelled to move about frequently, and pretty rapidly, in a remarkably short space of time, to escape British interference with the way in which our forefathers thought the affairs of this country should be handled.

Philadelphia finally became the home of the continental congress and Uncle Sam's money box at the close of the revolution and the mint, in 1791, when the national government was moved to the new capital provided for it on the banks of the Potomac river in the District of Columbia.

The blotter or wastebook is, of course, used for recording the other books in the set and accounts of detail that are set forth on its pages. The writing on it is not nearly so good as that in the journal or ledger, but it is legible and easily read, as in the other books, remarkably well preserved.

The last entry in this book was made, as far as April 16, 1776, and this is the first entry, of course, in both journal and ledger. It is an item of certain money paid to James Warren, paymaster general of the United States army. In the ledger and journal the writing is beautifully done, and the handwriting of the men of the period of the Revolution are mounted in both ledger and journal and many interesting items are to be found opposite their names. One highly interesting entry is that of the lottery counterfeited by the United States government in 1776.

The accounts of George Washington are all entered in these books in due shape, and are always items of money paid on his demand. Washington would receive no stated salary for his services to the government, but he was to be allowed to submit from time to time statements of expenses, as occasion should arise; for which he felt sure that the government would reimburse him, and these entries are to notice for the demands he made during the Revolutionary period. Of course when he became president his salary became fixed—Philadelphia Times.

Backache

THE BANE OF MANY A WOMAN'S LIFE.

A Berlin Lady Tells How to Get Rid of It.

Doan's Kidney Pills

The Remedy.

Mrs. Alice Miller, 10, Wellington St., Berlin, Ont., says: "For years I have been afflicted with kidney and back trouble, suffering greatly from dizziness, nervousness, weak eyesight, loss of sleep, and terrible pain, almost constant, tired, weak feeling. In fact, last I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. I received so much benefit from them that I continued their use until I had taken three boxes all, and am now entirely cured. This removes every vestige of pain, dizziness and nervousness, and enabled me to get restful sleep; so that from a weak woman I am now strong and well again."

Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy in the world for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Uremia, Backache, Gravel, Sediment, &c. Sold by druggists, or sent by mail on application. Second edition of book free. The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

53 DROPPING FROM A TOP STORY.

An Experience That Was Not Altogether Disagreeable.

A couple of tourists were in the top of the Washington monument the other day, and, as they were about to start at giddy heights, they called off the shudders of a fat one of them. The other listened to him awhile.

"I am willing to admit," he said, "that a drop of 500 feet to a stone pavement is not a pleasant experience, though I am willing to testify that a more delightful death could scarcely be imagined."

"Were you ever killed that way?" inquired the other in a tone of doubt.

"Not exactly, but I went through all the motions."

"How do you mean?"

"Listen. Fifteen years ago or thereabouts I was holding down a job in the old Gazette building in Cincinnati, a six story structure which was considered sky-high in those days. One fine year old, and not in the very good fix as I am now, and I did not kick when the boss told me to wash the windows on the top floor. I was doing very well at it and had got my pay deservedly when a boy, like a hawk, swooped down and snatched away the glass window. I lost my balance in some way and out I went. What I did in going I cannot say. What I thought I cannot say. All I remember was that consciousness came again as I was falling, and I was not sure what I was not clear to me. There was certainly no sense or knowledge that I was falling across a top story window and would be crushed to death below."

"When consciousness came again I was at home, and was home after the fall. I did not know what I wanted to, what had happened. They told me I had fallen from the sixth story window and that I had struck on the roof of a back shed in the back area, which had broken the fall and saved my life. This shearing off of a number of beams took the support except at the ends, and I had gone through them to the pavement below. What I was not killed was only the luck that comes to people sometimes. I didn't even break a bone, but I got a shake up that I have never forgotten. It has made me sore for three months. This monument is some higher than that building, but I fancy the feeling in falling is about the same."—Washington Star.

Exactions in England.

The number of executions during the present reign has been much smaller than formerly. Coke in the time of Queen Eliza both remarks on the large number of persons hanged. In 1760 a great increase of crime occurred, and in the following year 62 persons were hanged in the city of London of those days. But many more were sentenced than were actually hanged. In England in 1785 there were 292 sentenced and 103 actually suffered. Townsend, the Poor Street, and others, think between 1781 and 1785 he had no less than 150 or 200 hanged at one execution. Two or three years ending 1894 there were 730 executions in England and Wales, or between 12 and 13 persons a week. In the first few years there were 100, and then ten times as many, though actually more, is proportional to the population, less than in the first ten as the population doubled between 1837 and 1894. The largest number in any one of these years was in 1877, when there were 53, and the smallest in 1871, when there were 4.—Chambers' Journal.

JAPANESE SAVAGERY.

Defenceless People in Formosa Slaughtered in Sheer Wantonness.

Vancouver, B.C., June 10.—The feelings of the populace in Formosa have been brought to a boil by instant death Sunday morning of all the men, women and children by the Japanese soldier in the Hsin-ho district. Pirates defected the soldiers, who were so enraged that when they returned to civilization they attacked the peaceful village of Loon ah Tion, set it on fire and murdered the inhabitants.

Yellow Fever in the South.

London, June 10.—John Edward J. G. Hunter, secretary of the State Board of Health, gave the Associated Press the following statement at 10:30 last night:

"It having been reported to me that seven cases of yellow fever had occurred in Santiago de Cuba, I caused the medical officer in quarantine, under charge of Dr. Harlan, who will observe the quarantine and sanitary rules and regulations adopted by this Board, to stop the steamship and said: 'That is right, gentlemen; as fast as you are weighed, pass out!'" He continued his sermon some time after that, but no one disturbed him by leaving.

A LONG SERMON.

A clergyman preached a rather long sermon from the text, "There art we to play, with an iron toy cannon filled with powder and small shot. The town was ignited with the result that Wheeler adroitly followed, greatly to the surprise of the spectators. Another person started, whereupon the person stopped his sermon and said: "That is right, gentlemen; as fast as you are weighed, pass out!" He continued his sermon some time after that, but no one disturbed him by leaving.

FOR MEN OF WAR.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 10.—Owing to a mistake having been made in the consignment ordered by Mr. T. C. Thayer, agent for the army and navy, and the troops and sailors are on half rations.

Countess Casa Valencia, wife of a former Spanish Ambassador to Great Britain, started a Spanish food fund in London, but realized only $1,000.

Colonel Adolfo Sampayo, officially declared that the command of the household of Santiago de Cuba was to clear the way for the troops. The object has been attained.

The British authorities have not taken any steps towards the acquisition of the Spaniards from Montreal. Carranza's letter was cabled from Washington to the Home Government.

Kingsburg, Jamaica, is being occupied by three or four thousand Spanish refugees from Cuba, who have taken up their residence there. More Spanish men in circulation there than Eng landers, probably more.

A militia general order issued Thursday provides for the distribution of medals to those engaged in the Fenian Raid of 1870. All applicants must submit their applications separately without the aid of a trustee or attorney. Persons who served in the campaign must submit an application for each. A declaration of service must be made before a justice of the peace by the applicant, and a declaration of a company who has knowledge of the applicant's service, will be forwarded to the department. Only one medal will be issued to any individual. With each medal there will be a chap.

UNCLASSIFIED.

Innocent women and children have been shot in Levantia, Asia Minor, soldiers in the Ottoman empire.

A bull and two cows were selected from the buffalo herd to be retained in Winnipeg. The remainder were shipped to Bismarck.

At a regular meeting of the Maritime Association in New York resolutions favoring arbitration were adopted.

THE NAVY DESERTER

JACK'S TRICKY METHOD OF GETTING "OVER THE SIDE."

He Is Not Hunted by the Naval Authorities After He Makes Good His Escape. Desertions From the Army and How They Are Managed.

When a bluejacket or marine has decided to desert he says very little about it, even to his intimate friends among his shipmates, but for some mysterious reason that has not been satisfactorily explained and cannot easily be put into words is always passed around among the men forward that "Jack" is about to go "over the side." Occasionally the same news will get off to the commanding officer and the family of bathering around their heads about inquiring deserts. The intending deserter always waits until he attains the first class on the conduct class list of his ship, which permits him to draw all the pay except a small sum, except a man who has always carried on the paymaster's books for all hands.

Meanwhile he makes his preparations for the jump. He usually goes in light marching order, wearing a cap, coat, etc., that are of any value he sells for almost nothing to his shipmates or gives away. The things he can use, as, for example, underwear, he does up in a small package, together with a few personal belongings, letters and trinkets he may possess, and wish to keep and gives the bundle to the bumboat man, who stocks a dingy with tobacco, soap, brushes and such small articles as well as the usual comodities prices to favor the warden.

The bumboat man is always on the side of the man who puruses jumping ship, and he takes good care of the intending deserter's bundle until the man claims it. The bumboat man also understands how to get a good price for the man who is about to leave the navy without waiting for his discharge. He makes a small commission on the outfit. "Mouthily money" day comes around, and the intending deserter draws all the money he has earned except the month's pay retained.

Then comes the day upon which he is entitled to go ashore. He goes and signs himself out, and gets a receipt of division report, him absent without leave for ten days, and every time he does so there is a general grin along the lines of men forward assembled at quarters, and as soon as he is marked on the ship's log as being absent he is given a receipt of himself to the paymaster, who has no right to demand his pay, but has to give it to him.

A soldier in the army goes about the business of desertion with great care, combining a number of artifices to make his escape. He does not often have much money when he makes his escape, for his pay is small, and the money consuming contention is never far from the quarters. As often as he does not leave the camp he is compelled to go to the office of the bumboat man, who is always anxious to get rid of him, and he is compelled to do so by might, except the suspicion of the first sergeant, who generally has a keen eye in such matters. When the first sergeant does begin to grow suspicious and looks through the chest of the absent man, he finds probably an old worn out pair of trousers and a bad advertising campaign.

"Where is this man's gear?" he asks all hands lying around in their bunks in the quarters. Nobody knows.

"I don't know," replies him, "they reply and turn over. That is all the satisfaction a first sergeant ever gets in such cases."

Not many years ago a recruit at Davids Island (now Fort Slocum), N. Y., received word that his mother was dying in a little town in Germany. He had been the captain of his company, the latter not having been asked for leave of absence long enough to go to his mother's bedside. The captain, who feared that the telegram was bogus, declined to let the recruit go. The recruit appealed to the commanding officer who agreed to let him go on the same grounds.

In the middle of winter the recruit swam the heavy tide that runs between Davids Island and New Rochelle, and made his way to the bedside of his mother. In the time it took him to swim, the weather had turned cold, and the recruit was half frozen. After the year 1860—when our records allow us to judge the weather over the whole country—there was a remarkable change of climate.

Our correspondent sees no change, but a certain change in the habits of the people, such as the removal from the interior to the coast or from forests or prairies, or from country or city, or vice versa, will produce a corresponding change in the weather. We have met with quite as many persons who have moved from one extreme to another as those who think the change of climate were formerly. Everything seems to depend upon how and where the "old inhabitant" lived when he was a boy compared with his present condition. The author of the suggestion is right.

Until about six years ago the military authorities paid $60 for the apprehension of a deserter. As a result of this system there arose in the immediate vicinity of large military posts a class of men known in the army vernacular as "hounds," who made a business of capturing army deserters for the $60 reward. Those men very rarely failed to gather in here in prey, even if they very often succeeded in doing so only by the price of broken bones or worse injuries.

They did not only hate the enlisted man, but of the officers as well, for upon every deserter brought in a general court martial had to be held, and the enlisted men who were tried were always the ones who suffered.

There were no trials for desertion, but the men forward reduced the pay of the capture of deserters to $10, the present figure.

Desertions From the Army and How They Are Managed.

When a bluejacket or marine has decided to desert he says very little about it, even to his intimate friends among his shipmates, but for some mysterious reason that has not been satisfactorily explained and cannot easily be put into words is always passed around among the men forward that "Jack" is about to go "over the side." Occasionally the same news will get off to the commanding officer and the family of bathering around their heads about inquiring deserts. The intending deserter always waits until he attains the first class on the conduct class list of his ship, which permits him to draw all the pay except a small sum, except a man who has always carried on the paymaster's books for all hands.

Meanwhile he makes his preparations for the jump. He usually goes in light marching order, wearing a cap, coat, etc., that are of any value he sells for almost nothing to his shipmates or gives away. The things he can use, as, for example, underwear, he does up in a small package, together with a few personal belongings, letters and trinkets he may possess, and wish to keep and gives the bundle to the bumboat man, who stocks a dingy with tobacco, soap, brushes and such small articles as well as the usual comodities prices to favor the warden.

The bumboat man is always on the side of the man who puruses jumping ship, and he takes good care of the intending deserter's bundle until the man claims it. The bumboat man also understands how to get a good price for the man who is about to leave the navy without waiting for his discharge. He makes a small commission on the outfit. "Mouthily money" day comes around, and the intending deserter draws all the money he has earned except the month's pay retained.

Then comes the day upon which he is entitled to go ashore. He goes and signs himself out, and gets a receipt of division report, him absent without leave for ten days, and every time he does so there is a general grin along the lines of men forward assembled at quarters, and as soon as he is marked on the ship's log as being absent he is given a receipt to the paymaster, who has no right to demand his pay, but has to give it to him.

BACHELOR AND BABY

A MIX UP THAT MADE THE CHOWD ROAR WITH LAUGHTER

But Until the Troubles Was Straightened Out It Wasn't Bit Funny for the Bachelors and the Squalling Infant.

One of Chicago's eligible bachelors recently had a severe nervous attack, and his friends thought he was crazy. A few weeks ago he had a house party at his home, and during the course of the evening he became extremely nervous, and finally collapsed. The doctor came, and the bachelors were greatly relieved to find that the patient was not suffering from any serious disease, but was merely having a fit of hysterics.

The doctor gave him a sedative, and the bachelors were greatly relieved to find that he was all right again.

After the doctor left, the bachelors sat around the room, talking and laughing. One of them suddenly got up and went to the window, and looked out. He saw a baby in a cradle, and he thought it was his own. He picked up the baby and put it in his arms, and the bachelors were greatly relieved to find that the baby was all right.

"What's the matter with you?" he asked. "You're all right, aren't you?"

"I'm not," said the baby. "I'm not a baby, I'm a squalling infant." The bachelors were greatly relieved to find that the baby was all right again.

"Well, my dear," said the older woman, "I'm sure it was a natural mistake. The doctor thought he had come to see you, and he didn't know how to thank the gentleman for his kindness."

However, she was evidently struggling with something. At last she gave way to riotous and unseemly mirth, and her laugh was so contagious that every one except the bachelors, the mother and the doctor, joined in.

"Oh, I long for my parrot," said she, wiping her eyes and wrestling with her dimples, "but it was too funny. The porter took our hotel luggage and the baby and then burst into hysterical sobs. The bachelors looked round but could not find the baby. She then burst into fits of uncontrollable mirth. However, she was evidently struggling with something. At last she gave way to riotous and unseemly mirth, and her laugh was so contagious that every one except the bachelors, the mother and the doctor, joined in.

"The group of men let out a roar of laughter at that, and the bachelors looked on.

"Well, my dear," said the older woman, "I'm sure it was a natural mistake. The doctor thought he had come to see you, and he didn't know how to thank the gentleman for his kindness."

Then the eastern train came in, and the epoch was ended. It was understood that now that any one at the station who called an ambulance "babby" paid a pleasant compensation.—New York Sun.

"What's the matter? If it were possible to have any excuse for such conduct have you for your bearing your wife?" asked the porter.

"Now, don't you fret, man, it's all right," said the porter.

Although on the Up Turn Wheat Markets Were Uncertain — Ituz Decrease in World's Visible Supply—Prices.

Tuesday Evening, June 21.

The eidge wheat market was again irregular, but the market was quiet. There was a break, amounting to nearly one cent per bushel, but the covering by shorts was so great that the market did not advance. At the close June wheat showed a gain of 2¢ over yesterday's sum. Quota duty, 10¢, gain of 2¢, September one of 1¢, total gain of 3¢.

The old decrease in the world's visible supply of wheat during the past week increased to 2,734,000 bushels. The visible supply of corn increased 1,265,000 bushels, and that of oats 1,000,000 bushels.

British wheat markets showed an improvement today. All flour deliveries were made at 100% of the price paid yesterday. September High wheat and December 1d higher; spec wheat at the same price. Antwerp wheat rose 60 to 80 centimes for the day. Antwerp markets remained unchanged. In London, wheat was held up to accompany wheat and rye, rather, wheat than rye.

According to Bradstreet's, the world's visible supply of wheat during the past week decreased 2,734,000 bushels. The visible supply of corn increased 1,265,000 bushels, and that of oats 1,000,000 bushels.

STELLAROON, N.S.—James R. Murray, a well known violinist, of this place, who has traveled extensively throughout the Provinces, makes this statement:

"I was running down in health and my weight fell off from 175 to 150 pounds. Prescriptions did me but little good. My trouble was called nervous dyspepsia. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking it for a month I was greatly benefited. I eat well now as ever in my life, and have increased in flesh so that I now weigh 177 pounds. I am well known in this part of the country, having followed my profession that of a violin musician for the last 25 years. I gladly tell my friends what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. Before I began taking the medicine I did not have any ambition, now all is changed and my dyspeptic trouble perfectly cured." JAMES R. MURRAY.

Insect Contrivance

As Dr. Darwin was walking one day in his garden he perceived a wasp upon a gravel walk with a large fly, ready upon its sting. Enticing the wasp to distinctly saw it out of the head and abdomen and then, taking up with his feet the trunk or middle portion of the body, to which the wings were attached, by a wavy, back and forth motion of which action on the wings of the fly turned round the wasp with its burden and impeded its progress. Upon this it alighted again on the gravel walk, deliberately sawed off first one wing and then the other and, having thus removed the cause of its embarrassment, bewofed with its booty.—New York Ledger.

SCOVILL ACQUITTED.

The Celebrated Brockville Sessions Fire Case Ended.

Brockville, June 21.—At the Brockville sessions, before His Honor Judge McDonald, the trial of Thomas K. Scovill, pursuant to the direction of Chief Justice Armstrong for being an accessory to the burning of the Southern Ontario at Peterborough, was proceeded with, and after two days' hearing, the jury found the prisoner not guilty. He was tried at the last Brockville Assizes for conspiracy, with two men named Layng and Johnson, to burn the buildings, and was then acquitted. The trial was adjourned to the insurance monies, amounting to about $4,000, and these will likely be tried at the next assizes. Mr. Scovill is now free from any imputation of a crime final character, and the only question left is the liability of the insurance companies to pay the money.

British's Prudent Policy.

London, June 21.—Replied to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. George E. Grey, said that annual naval manœuvres had been absent from the service in consequence of the serious character of the strike of coal miners in Wales, although he added, the British Admiralty never possessed a larger stock of coal than at present. But it was thought prudent to husband it.

Agged Clerk Killed.

St. Thomas, Ont., June 17.—Louis Prentiss, aged 70, and very deaf, a well-known merchant, who resides at the top of St. George street hill, was riding in the afternoon yesterday across the Alline track at the second crossing, was struck by an eastbound Wabash freight train and killed. It is thought he did not hear the approach of the train.

Seating Claims Settled.

Washington, June 17.—The claims of Canadian sailors arising out of seafarers made by the United States in the Bering Sea were finally settled yesterday by the payment to Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, of approximately $17,500, leaving the amount of the claims as settled under an agreement between the United States and Great Britain.

A WARSHIP'S LAUNCH CAUSES THE LOSS OF MANY LIVES BY DROWNING.

The Backwash From the Mighty Craft Carried Away the Steaming on Which 200 People Were Standing—Thirty-four Bodies Recovered.

London, June 22.—The launching of the battleship Albion at Blackwall yesterday was accompanied by disaster, with it is estimated that 50 persons lost their lives. Already 11 bodies had been recovered, of whom 15 were men and 11 children. It is thought that some bodies have been carried out to sea by the tide. Sixty persons were also more or less injured and required medical attention.

The launching of the hull of the first class battleship Albion was made the occasion of a holiday at Blackwell, and the navy yard was crowded with spectators eager to see the iron monster take its first dip into the water. The launch was attended by a host of fashionable friends, christened the boat the Albion, after the conventional manner. The notable guests viewed the ceremony in comfort and safety from canopies and balconies which the ship's company had provided. The populace, however, were left to hunt vantage ground for them-selves, and took up positions at every point at which view could be obtained, precipitating a general scene of police protection altogether. Inadequate. The people swarmed all over the navy yard and crowded upon a staging, a light structure 50 feet long, that had been erected for workmen near the stern of a Japanese cruiser. The platform was unsafe, and notices had also been posted by the ship company, but in spite of all people crowded upon the structure.

After the ceremony of christening the boat, the great iron hull, having descended into the water, was suddenly submerged, precipitating two hundred persons into the water with a mighty splash. The scene was one of indescribable confusion. The water was awfully with struggling people. The accident did not attract the attention of the vast crowd and only those in the vicinity were aware of the calamity. The cries of the drowning were given over by the chasers of the multitude raised upon the successful launch of the iron clad.

Fortunately there was plenty of help in the shape of police boats and other craft, and the lifeboats of the firemen who were employed in an ornamental capacity at the ceremony were all prompt in affording succor. Some were injured by colliding with the debris.

The Duke and Duchess of York have telephoned assurances of their profound regret and sympathy over the sad affair.

MANGLED BODY IN A TRUNK.

Grossone Find in the Blackwell Canoe at Buffalo.

Buffalo, June 22.—A trunk containing the dismembered body of a man was found floating in the Blackwell Canal yesterday. The head had been cut off and legs had been torn from the body, and both arms and hands were terribly mangled, but were attached to the body by the tendons and muscles. In his breast were a number of small wounds, one of them a great gaping rent, extending through the right lung. The man was apparently an Italian, about 30 years of age, and weighed about 175 pounds. His features were regular. His eyes were blue and his moustache and hair were black. The pieces of clothing found on the body were torn and mangled. The man had been dressed in a brown and black checked suit. There is no clue whatever to the murderer or to the identity of the victim.

In the afternoon of the 20th the body was identified as that of Philipps Grossone, a soldier in the Italian marine. The trunk in which the body was found has been identified by a city trunk dealer as one sold by him Monday morning to an Italian. The crime therefore must have been committed that afternoon or night.

The height of the trunk by the murderer or murderers was not high enough to prevent its floating. The head and legs of the murdered man were packed underneath his body in the trunk. There is no clue to the authors of the crime or to its motive.
